

UNDERFLOOR HEATING

Strathearn natural stone, porcelain and wood flooring is ideal for underfloor heating and we are installation specialists in electric underfloor heating with over a decade's experience working with Scotland's leading heating engineers to fit original, craftsman built floors which look beautiful and perform effectively with your choice of system.

- Apart from our solid oak range, all Strathearn natural wood, porcelain and stone flooring is suitable for installation with underfloor heating.
- Prior to designing and fitting a floor we carry out our own survey of the installed heating system.
- To synchronise heating and flooring design we can also liaise with engineers before and during system installation.
- Strathearn have particular expertise in the design and installation of flooring with underfloor heating in traditional properties.

For more detailed technical information and prices please speak to one of our team 01764 684836.