

Welcome to Strathearn

Over 15 years ago we imported flagstones and aged oak flooring from France. Not because it was easy, but because we were restoring our 180 year old Perthshire cottage and finding authentic, natural stone and timber in Scotland was surprisingly difficult. Our floors were stunning – they still are – and the flagstones and oak we didn't use, we sold on. And that's where Strathearn's story began.

At first it was just us, doing everything, out of our beautifully floored kitchen. But as our reputation for distinctive, natural stone and timber floors grew, so did our team. We found our Forteviot workshop. We travelled the world sourcing products. We chose working partners who shared our integrity. And we listened to our customers. Today, Strathearn remains a family business and many of the people at the start of our story are still here now. We look forward to including you in our next chapter.

The Strathearn team

Every business talks about teamwork, but we simply believe our people are the most valuable Strathearn asset and our long tradition of working together as a caring and creative team produces outstanding results.

Consultancy, Design and Installation by Strathearn

Strathearn create Scotland's finest floors, but at heart we are a family business and firmly believe that working with us should be just as much of a pleasure as the exceptional end results. On-brief, on-time and on-budget is the most basic requirement on any of our projects, naturally we go far beyond that. We make sure you have team continuity from your first phone call to the final walk-through on the finished job. We take time to go through your site survey in detail and give you precise and relevant product advice. We assign dedicated project and installation managers, so you always know who you're talking to. And most of all we listen to you, so not only is the process of working with Strathearn enjoyable, your floor is perfect and perfectly installed.

Inspiration and ideas are always the start of the design process at Strathearn. So, often a client's thumbnail sketch can be as important to an aged oak floor as the wood itself. We're team players and believe in working closely with clients to realise their vision down to the last detail. That's why people choose Strathearn, because we don't just supply stone and timber, we transform ideas into extraordinary designs.

Of course, we use advanced equipment, but it's only tools until we add our own creativity, experience and expertise. And although we're justifiably proud of our reputation for impeccable craftsmanship, we also know our clients don't live in the past. So we balance tradition with technology and achieve the highest standards of both. Which simply means that even a magnificent, authentic flagstone floor designed and installed by Strathearn will never preclude the comfort of underfloor heating, if that's what you want.

A Strathearn aged oak or natural stone floor is hardwearing and practical, but when it's fitted by our specialist installers, all you see is the beauty. Although once you've lived with your floor for a little, the inherent craftsmanship is unmistakeable. We fully admit to being perfectionists, that's one of the reasons we're entrusted with historic restoration and heritage projects and work with so many prestigious interior designers and award winning architects. But we apply the same care and attention to all our projects, whether it's fitting a single floor in a small mudroom or working together with other contractors on the restoration of an entire home.

And naturally, from start to finish on any job, you will be working with people you know and trust, because they're all Strathearn people. So even if you're just looking for advice, a call or visit to our showroom is all it takes to put you in touch with the perfect person to discuss your ideas and introduce you to our inspired way of working.

Stone at Strathearn

Investing in stone is a thoughtful decision. No other natural material is stronger and nothing else on earth encapsulates millions of years of creation as beautifully. Each piece is different, so whether you're designing floors, walls or simply adding detail to an interior, the end result will be unique. And as Strathearn only select products from ethical sources, investing in our stone is always a thoughtful environmental decision too.

Strathearn have Scotland's largest selection of natural stone, we're also the country's leading installation experts and we use stone in all sorts of ways: to give depth and interest to new interiors; enhance authenticity in historic restorations; to recreate original features for traditional homes or even to add elusive personality to new build projects.

We also use natural stone to create our range of exceptional hearths which are both the essential practical foundation for open fires or stoves and a classic finishing touch. Of course with the right choice of stone, our hearths are dramatic design features in themselves. Whether you want the Nordic cool of riven slate or the opulence of limestone, a simple hearth can define your style and create a focal point anywhere, from an urban loft apartment to an elegant Victorian drawing room.

Remarkably easy to care for and clean, when natural stone is correctly treated and sealed it will last forever. So take time to choose. Visit our showroom.

Browse the ranges and then sit down with one of the team and tell them what you have in mind. Whatever it is, it's almost certainly part of the Strathearn natural stone collection.

Natural stone works for most floors and walls. However, where it doesn't the Strathearn porcelain collection fits perfectly. An uncompromising alternative to stone in more demanding areas, the porcelain range is made for bathrooms and kitchens, but just as hardwearing outside by the pool or on the terrace. Large format porcelain floor tiles are ideal in apartments and difficult spaces. Wood effect porcelain flooring combines the warmth of authentic timber with extraordinary practicality for wet rooms, shower rooms, saunas or spas. And a range of original decorative tiles adds another layer of creative possibilities, almost anywhere you care to design.

Timber at Strathearn

The strength and durability of wood makes it a perfect choice for flooring. It's also easy to clean and care for, and naturally hypoallergenic. But the true beauty of wood lies in its creative potential. Wood reflects light endlessly, giving a sense of space, even in rooms where space is limited. And although every Strathearn floor is flawless, the individual characteristics inherent in wood still make every one unique.

Rich and warm in a traditional setting or bright and dynamic in newer spaces, a wood floor expresses qualities everyone understands and appreciates instantly. It's a confident design choice, and works easily with any style of interior: as a neutral foil or a deliberate statement. And wood only improves with age which means, as Scotland's leading supplier and installer of wood floors, Strathearn regularly have the pleasure of admiring floors we installed years ago, often looking lovelier now than ever.

Natural oak flooring is beautifully versatile and Strathearn has Scotland's finest range. Our pre-finished oak boards are available both as an engineered and solid and come in a wide selection of lengths and widths. Because we use specialist techniques to draw out nuances in the wood, our oak floors are defined by their depth of colour, distinctive graining and texture.

For rich drama or ethereal brightness the Chambord flooring collection can be equally effective as a strong statement or subtle complement to your interior design. Our Beaulieu collection is quietly elegant. And our Dijon and Alsace collections work bold and impactful as easily as they do cool and restrained, depending on your preferred finish.

Then there's the Strathearn collection of pre-finished oak parquet and cassettes. A new generation of the classic flooring which combines all the finest qualities of the original with designs ranging from authentic Versailles to sleek, thoroughly contemporary patterns.

But whatever Strathearn oak floor you choose, you can be sure it will be entirely original, completely you and enduringly beautiful for generations to come.
